Topic: Don Versen Named COO of Novus Law

CHICAGO – Novus Law LLC, the global legal services firm, has named Don Versen as Chief Operating Officer. Mr. Versen is responsible for leading the firm’s client services and technology solutions teams, as well as participating in its strategic development.

“Novus Law applies innovative processes and advanced technology in a rigorous manner that is unprecedented in the legal industry,” Mr. Versen says. “I’m excited to join an organization whose cutting-edge vision and highly-specialized services are valued by clients and their law firms at a significant cost savings.”

Mr. Versen brings a depth of operations management expertise as the former vice president of a Fortune 50 company with experience leading product development, sales, delivery, and engineering. Mr. Versen is also the former Chief Technology Officer of a mid-sized business-to-business communications company.

Novus Law CEO Raymond Bayley said, “We’re delighted that Don has joined our leadership team. As the former Vice President Business Architecture and Process at Comcast Business Services he will ensure that we continue to advance the distinguished standards and application of our award-winning Novus Process. He’ll also help us continue to break new ground in the delivery of legal services and expand the ways we serve our clients.”

Mr. Versen previously held senior business positions at IBM Global Services, AT&T and Sun Microsystems leading world-class outsourcing organizations. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from DePaul University and a Master of Business Administration Degree from the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University.
